H. H. SMITH, commissioner of Dominion lands reports as follows regarding hay lands in the latest blue book of the department of interior: I may be permitted to suggest that the administration of hay lands might be changed with advantage. At present these lands contribute but little to the revenue, and the issue of permits, collections and returns in connection therewith, involve so much work, and the result, as concerns the settler and the department, is altogether so unsatisfactory, that I have been forced to the conclusion that in the general interest our policy in regard to these lands should be modified. The area of hay lands available and in the Crown's possession particularly in the well-settled parts of the country, is wholly inadequate to supply the hay which the settlers require, consequently competition is keen and speaking generally, so short is the supply of hay that the best efforts of the agent fail to establish an apportionment satisfactory to the contending applicants.

CLEAN WHEAT.
Wheat seeding has made good progress up to date and according to report more than usual care has been taken to free the grain of smut so that a clean crop will be reaped next harvest. But if any farmers have been careless in this matter or still think of sowing without thinning their seed, it is to be hoped they will reconsider their determination. While smut may not be absolutely preventable it is as nearly so as any disease of plant or animal can be. The means of preventing it are well understood and the farmer who neglects to take these means is not doing himself or his neighbors justice. One farmer having good wheat while all his neighbors have poor wheat will not get as much per bushel for his crop as if all his neighbors had good wheat too. For there is not the competition in buying that there would be if all the wheat in the district was good. The farmer who grows dirty wheat not only does himself harm but also hurts his neighbors as well. The crop of last year in this district was very smutty and Mr. Ritchie of the roller mill finds this a great drawback in making flour which will compete with that made elsewhere. While the quality of the wheat itself cannot be excused the large proportion of smutty grain brought to the mill makes it very difficult to keep the flour up to the necessary standard of whiteness. This of course reduces the profits of the mill and must also reduce proportionately the price received by the farmer for his wheat. The action of the agricultural society in bringing in a car load, nearly 700 bushels, of good clean seed wheat, is to be highly commended as well as the readiness with which a very large number of farmers seized the opportunity to improve their seed, every bushel being taken and paid for in cash at 80 cents a bushel. There is no reason why this Edmonton district should not stand at the very top of the list as to quality of wheat produced and if it did it would mean a very substantial increase in the farmer's income and in the revenue of the district.

LET HIM GO.
It is reported that E. O. Chapman late of Palouse, Washington, who intended to leave on Thursday's train has been held up by the customs authorities. It appears that Mr. Chapman brought some stock into the Territories last fall duty free as settlers' effects. Intending to leave he sold them off, which rendered them dutiable and their owner liable for having contravened the customs regulation. It is quite possible that the somewhat intricate customs regulations may have been contravened by Mr. Chapman, but certainly not with any intention of fraud, and it would have been much better to have waived the strict law in this case and let Mr. Chapman go, rather than take proceedings which are certain to be misrepresented in the States and thereby do great harm to the general interest. It is to be feared that spite against Mr. Chapman on account of a letter written to the Palouse papers decrying this district had as much to do with the seizure of his stock as the strict interpretation of the law. Such a policy is neither creditable nor profitable and should not be pursued. Mr. Chapman was dissatisfied with the country and said so, without sticking very closely to the truth however—but being dissatisfied—even without just cause—the sooner he was out of it the better and should have been helped rather than hindered on the way.

ALBERTA MARKETS.

The last report of the department of interior contains the following regarding a market for Alberta products:

Up to the present time the advantage of settlement in Manitoba to the grain grower has undoubtedly been large. As compared with the country lying between Calgary and Edmonton, he is from 800 to 1,000 miles nearer to the eastern grain market. There is, however, I understand, a very excellent prospect that the flour produced from the hard wheat of the Northwest will at an early day supplant in the markets of China and Japan the article manufactured from the softer grain of Washington, Oregon and California, which up to this time has been the only flour from the American continent which has been to any extent in demand in these countries. There is also some reason to believe that, with the cold storage appliances which are now at the command of the railway and steamship companies, business of some consequence in refrigerated dead meat can be established with both China and Japan. The Chinese and Japanese are neither of them a meat-eating people, but the authorities of both countries are satisfied that it would be better if this article of diet were more largely patronized than it is. Even if a trade in beef and mutton does not develop, there does not appear to be any reason why the railway and steamship companies should not be able to establish a trade in pork and poultry, both of which are largely consumed in China and Japan, and the facilities for producing which in the Northwest are practically unlimited. As regards the markets of the west, when they become developed, the advantage as to distance will be in favor of and not against the Territories. There are two products of the farm, however, in demand both east and west at remunerative figures, for the manufacture of which the whole of Manitoba and the Northwest possesses unrivalled advantages. These articles are butter and cheese. There is no month of the year when butter of the best quality cannot be made and successfully preserved in that climate, and the butter makers of both the province and Territories are always able to command the highest market prices. The resources and advantages of the country for the successful prosecution of dairying are attracting considerable attention in Iowa and other states of the American Union where the industry is extensively pursued.

Father Meun, of St. Albert, went east last evening. He has just returned from a trip to French Canadian colonies near Edmonton, where he located sixty persons last week. Three delegates returned to the city with him yesterday who are from Argyle, Marshall county, Minnesota. They were generally pleased with the St. Albert district and intend to report very favorably. Father Meun is on his way to Fall River, Mass., from which place he leaves next month with a party of 300 repatriated French Canadians who will settle in the St. Albert country. He speaks hopefully of a large immigration. Free Press.

The customs regulations, provide that settlers to obtain entry of cattle duty free must declare that they have been at least a year in their possession, and are not allowed to sell them until they have been two years in the country. This law was devised doubtless to prevent smuggling, but under the circumstances is hard upon bona fide settlers from the States. The question of relaxation of the regulations is being considered by the controller, who will reach a decision in a few days.
